The Academic Senate President and/or other ELT members will provide an update on recent district-facilitated and other discussions concerning AB705, with a particular focus on Reading.

Gary Aguilar

- AB705 relates to specific math and English placements
- Didn't mention reading programs
- CCCCCO came out w/guidance for math/English over summer (no mention of reading)
- District requested guidance from CCCCCO
- Response believes that English reading and writing should be combined; reading competency in Title V as local decision; CCCCCO says if students meeting English competency they also meet reading competency
- District looking to transition all full-time reading faculty into other FSAs
- Need to create English 300 course that meets English and Reading – has repercussions
- District Reading Competency committee will help guide the solution
- Most English departments in District do not wish to modify current course; feels it currently meets competency
- District not in favor of adding units
- Preference for reading adjuncts – District says no but union indicates yes
- Should a reading department be incorporated into writing department or standalone while teaching English writing; local decision
- Don't want to see students become the casualty of whatever outcome is determined
