DISCUSSION ITEMS:

Question	Person(s) Responsible	Notes and Next Steps
-----------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------

What are the opportunities and obstacles associated with an institution-wide adoption of the ARC Equitable Decision-making Tool (aka, ARC Budget Operationalization Principles), and what would be required in order to facilitate a scaled adoption over the fall term? (Attachment)

Thomas
Greene and Others

- How do we maintain focus and energy in both immediate sense and long-term goals
- Equitable Decision-Making Tool originally designed to be applied to budgets
- Now being used more widely
- Nick reviewed tool
- Question – how do we adopt and scale it across the college with the expectation it will be used
- Question – possibly bring it to Academic Senate to review
- Don't have a college history of bringing expansive documents forward for adoption
- Question – is it a mandated prescription or suggested guidelines
- Include in governance training
- Designed to be used for big decisions but wouldn't stop a department from using to determine i.e., the number of sections of a specific course
- Use as a lens to make a decision
- Really make certain you're talking about the designed definition of equity as approved by the college
- Should be seen as the foundation to start a conversation, not stop one
- Question – does every department need to review and agree to use it
- Possibly provide some equity-based training similar to the District's IBA training
- Would like to see ELT approve the document and incorporate into governance training, have it vetted through the constituency groups
- If we adopt, it will help us all practice using it and it becomes more a part of our culture
- A key area that instructional deans are interested in using – framing decisions in equity
- Example of where it could have been helpful: Bookstore transition to Follett and the only payment method for books was credit card; not all students have credit cards
- Suggested next steps based on discussion: 1) proposal for ELT to adopt at next meeting to use this tool within ELT and embed into our governance structure, 2) move into constituency groups either as an information item or other for dialog and inquiry with perhaps formal adoption in constituency groups, 3) think about how to support folks using the tool (create scenarios, embed in trainings, etc)
- Before next ELT Meeting, think about other ways to implement
- Clarified that vetting take place first before ELT formally adopts
- On agenda for next month
- Recommend council chairs have that same conversation

On a site note

- Bureaucracy in remote operations has been amplified
- College identified a group of students who could benefit most from advocacy from managers
- Approximately 270 students identified who will be contacted by an administrator
- Support and advocacy will be offered
- This is a project (not program) that will hopefully continue in subsequent semesters
- Suggestion – have managers participate in the Call Center during peak times to acquire first-hand knowledge of students’ frustrations and challenges

What progress has the college made in the implementation of the adopted recommendations contained within the Institutional Equity and DI Project Team Plans since adoption in May 2020? How are these aligned with the active and/or proposed strategies associated with the two district wide "targets" of closing the opportunity gap in course success/achieve a 73% course success rate; and the gap associated with throughput in transfer-level Math and English 300? How do we approach the scaled adoption of those specific strategies/actions that hold the greatest opportunity for broad, positive impact on these targets/goals?
