Question	Person(s) Responsible	Notes and Next Steps
		Kale Braden gave an extensive presentation on the ELSS (Enterprise-Level Scheduling Solution) for scheduling classes. He has been working on it for about a year. This is to help for scheduling classes. It is better at scheduling courses, and scheduling classes online. District also purchased Ad Astra to look at here it fits in our process. Ad Astra Platinum will roll over fall to fall and spring to spring. Broad steps on

ELSS	Kale Braden	identifying lease out round one mid October, due mid December. Round two mid January due early March and finalized late March or early April. Term begins late August (cycles). New system no change on timeline. Data after grades come in . Behavior of students determines where we go. This system pose's questions, historical data high points stores its data in PeopleSoft and Ad Astra captures and pulls from that 70% in the morning and 30% in the afternoon. Everyone schedules at the same time how to build a logical schedule for students. Room management is the best usage of space with the right number of students per room. Predictive after grades are turned in, it looks at Student Ed Plans and Pathways in addition getting data we are paying for a data coach. Historical data First round in December, second round in mid January. We can publish a class when offering in scheduling. Make promise on when classes are offered to students and make it happen. Give department Deans a clean rollover or use work flow tool (analyidics). The number one promise was to make it an easier process. Insure it wasn't push button - intrusive data we have never had before. Intentional data/behavioral data dig down deep to find the right courses. Behavioral data and live watch data. Build an interface allow counselor or student to type in classes when it's needed - morning, afternoon, evening or online student? How to build a logical schedule for students. Second level - Room optimization system, utilize classrooms effectively. scheduling for events in PeopleSoft. Events are anything not tied back to a PeopleSoft interface, (i.e. meetings, study sessions, football games, (etc). Digital signage to book rooms. Room inventory, what is the room features, set up? Series of rules? Rooms specialization - state money paid for all equipment. Going to have a Scheduling Team. ELSS- Enrollment management - launching enrollment management team. Different project team that still have some same members. ELSS a lot of hard work was put into this.
