Constituency Group Highlights from Written Reports	Constituency Group Leaders	Faculty Senate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Statement of support for Afghan students (w/resources) - Thanks to Sarah Lehmann regarding training on book orders - Late orders impact the Library's ability to purchase the books and have them on-hand for students - Working w/Bookstore staff to streamline process and work in partnership with Bookstore - Faculty hiring prioritization process - aligning process between faculty senate and leadership Classified Senate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Established vision for the year; 3 C's: communication, connection, community building - Training provided for new senators, etc. last week - All new executive board and several new senators - More transparent communication via podcast - Loss of connection - hallway communications, walking across campus to get mail ASB: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Most of executive board appointed - Almost completely new board - Training with Roberts Rules and Brown Act - Possible sustainability ad hoc committee - Looking at District committees and workgroups with assistance from Student Trustee - Club presidents/advisors received re-activation paperwork - Working with Student Design Team to plan events once more clubs are chartered Managers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - HomeBases - continue to refine process - What does it mean to be a part of HomeBase - What kind of staffing is needed to stand up the program - Conversations this semester on where we've been and where we're going - Dual enrollment - a lot happening

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - COVID is the current focus - a herculian effort with a lot of moving parts - communication coming out today about protocols - front-line student services folks getting ready to address questions via phone, email, etc. - will students be auto-dropped from on-ground classes if not vaccinated by October 1 - if exemption filed, nothing happens until determination made (it's a legally-required interactive process when health reason is given) - exemptions filed on sincerely held beliefs are being handled by HR with approximately 72-hour turn around - autodrop coming in Spring '22 - creating as much latitude in process for students for this semester - potential of enrollment hit - we are largest in the District so we're counted on to meet enrollment goals - what communications are going out to students; can those communications be sent to employees so we know what's being said and support it in our communication with students - it's been challenging - pace has added a complex layer - on-going conversations regarding our challenges with communications and efforts to improve - 11 individuals (student or employee) tested positive; 63 have been in close contact with someone who is positive; 52 have been exposed - students, faculty and staff have been wonderful regarding mask mandates with a very small footprint on campus right now

Update on Re-Opening Plans	Frank Kobayashi	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Will be standing agenda item - Many topics already covered - Opened campus with more on-ground classes - Mask mandate was first hurdle; widely received college-wide - Vaccine requirement next hurdle - Original message for spring '22 was traditional mix of classes - New message is to have more online classes offered - Will vary from department to department - Do you anticipate any further information coming out as we start to think about operating hours for next semester - Hard deadline for class schedules due to publishing - Approach would be similar to how hours were developed for the LRC this semester; look at the on-ground classes for spring courses and then use the range of times that classes are offered and use as a guideline to develop hours; as always, remain flexible - Will relocated services for this semester remain in the LRC or will they be moved back to original locations - Looking to open the Welcome and Support Center in October to help transition some services out of the LRC to make room for again for WAC and RAD - Transition should be completed by December - Also looking to open the Unite Center following some construction - Will there be food on campus? - Bookstore is stocking some additional food - Working with Canteen to get them on campus by fall for spring service - Food trucks will be available on-ground - Oak Cafe has some options along with bakery items and coffee a few days a week - Looking to go out with an RFP district-wide; looking for vendor that is not counter to our District's values - ASB looking to support efforts
